Dear Friends,

2016 was a momentous year for St. Paul’s. After 38 years of service, President and CEO G. Bryan Oros retired, and I stepped into this role on August 1. When I came on board in 2012 as Chief Financial Officer, I never imagined the journey would take me here. I’m so grateful for the opportunity and the confidence the board and Bryan placed in me. I’m thankful for the many gracious people, particularly our talented management team, that helped make the transition smooth.

The theme for this year’s annual donor report is “Growing Together.” Indeed that’s what we’ve done over the past year and all of St. Paul’s long and illustrious history. “Growing Together” isn’t just about growth in size, although St. Paul’s has done plenty of that over the last 40 years.

“Growing Together” is about learning – whether how to streamline processes, succeed when something fails or increase our skills and knowledge. “Growing Together” is about you - our donors and volunteers - who share your time, talent and treasure to make St. Paul’s the special place it is today.

Every time you give or volunteer, you might be planting a seed that will grow into something new and much-needed. You might be doing some pruning of an existing “tree” that will grow into something more beautiful than it was before. You might be doing a little watering that helps someone heal. The point is the growing at St. Paul’s never ends. We are very glad you are part of the gardeners here that are shaping the future.

Thank you for your continued support of St. Paul’s - for your giving, your guidance and your prayers.

Chris Wright
Chief Executive Officer

There has perhaps not been a man more pivotal in the growth and transformation of St. Paul’s into what it is today than G. Bryan Oros. After 38 years at St. Paul’s, with 27 of those as President and CEO, Bryan was like our redwood tree - hardy and strong, trustworthy and steady, the face of St. Paul’s in the community. He cast a tall shadow through his tenure, both forward, always looking to St. Paul’s future, and backward, always honoring St. Paul’s past. True to his character, when Bryan retired in July 2016, he ensured the transition for St. Paul’s to a new era was as smooth and comfortable as possible. He spent two years mentoring and working with St. Paul’s new President and CEO Chris Wright. We thank Bryan for his many years of service to St. Paul’s and for helping the organization to grow strong and well-equipped to provide shelter and care for those in need for many years to come.

Bryan wanted to share with you, our donors, a few words about what you have meant to him over the years as St. Paul’s leader.

“Our donors were one of my most valuable partners at St. Paul’s. Whether you were planting seeds of time, talent or treasure, St. Paul’s would not be what it is today or where it is today, without you. You’ve given countless hours of manpower and millions of dollars in capital to build something very special here. When I think of all the dreams made possible by our donors - the construction of The Villas, the transformation of the old Health Center into The Heritage, the creation of the Keeping the Promise Fund, to name a few - I am amazed. Thank you for believing in us. Thank you for giving so selflessly to make these dreams a reality. I was part of an incredible story for 38 years. God willing and with the support of a family like you, that story will continue long into the future.”

Something that makes St. Paul’s unique is its growth over the years from caring for 37 orphans at the start to more than 600 older adults today. The St. Paul’s family has grown together, supporting and encouraging each other, learning and adapting. We thank the hundreds of staff, residents and volunteers, like the ones below, who are part of that story.

“When I came in 1984, there weren’t as many cottages. They were just starting to build on Stoyer and Gene Drive. One of the biggest things I remember was St. Paul’s cows grazing across the road. It was still a working farm then. They had a lovely apple orchard. It was a smaller family then and very informal. You could just walk into the kitchen, go into the cooler, get milk and leave money for it on the counter. I’ve seen a lot of expansion and changes over the years, and I think St. Paul’s will continue to expand. The biggest thing I like about living at St. Paul’s is the peace of mind for me and my children.”

- Bert Heckman, Resident of The Colony and former Director of Nursing at The Health Center

“Since joining the St. Paul’s board, I’ve witnessed incredible growth, most of which was driven by our desire to remain a leader in senior care. Changes in the industry, primarily how we’re paid, plays a key role as well, but I believe the staff and board are always looking for ways to provide the best care and services possible. The Ridgewood, The Villas and The Heritage are products of this mindset, and the projects were tackled to remain in the forefront.”

- Jeff Wallace, Board Member (Pictured with his wife Brenda at the Caring Hearts on Fire Gala)

“Residents have more opportunities to make changes to their care. It’s become more home-like with lots of pets and activities to do. The residents are like family. They love to hear how my family is doing and tell us about their family. I love to see the smiles and laughter when a resident is happy. I personally have met a lot of people and got to know them. Thirty years of laughter and tears - I would not trade it for anything. St Paul’s and the staff are the best!”

- Terri Lamotte, Personal Care Attendant at The Heritage

“We’re growing as a community exponentially. We’ve also seen the opening of the Cornerstone Restaurant and the addition of Eden groups to The Colony. That’s been really nice and helps us become aware of needs in the community. I think St. Paul’s is the perfect size right now. We still feel like a close family. We love the activities. We like to keep active. We are also really excited about the addition of a new nature trail we’ve been working to create on campus.”

- Jim & Karen Ondo, residents at The Colony and volunteers

“I’ve seen so much change in my time here. The Colony was a lot smaller when we moved in. There were open fields and lots of trees. I remember the Apple House where they stored apples to keep them cool. I remember the big barn - it’s still there. It’s just beautiful inside! I remember where they used to make apple cider. I’ve been at St. Paul’s for almost 30 years! The staff here are so friendly, and they care about you. You become family and friends.”

- June Fledderjohn, resident at The Heritage, former resident at The Colony and former volunteer (Pictured with St. Paul’s CFO Brian Mailliard)

“St. Paul’s has grown over the nine years I’ve been here by adding Jones Serenity Circle, the Short Stay Unit and the Without Walls in-home care program. I have been a part of the Without Walls program from its beginning, and I love it. What I like most about working at St. Paul’s is the feeling of family, great staff, wonderful residents and outstanding care.”

- Linda Ilif, Office Manager at St. Paul’s Without Walls

On Saturday, October 8, 2016, St. Paul’s hosted the 6th biennial Caring Hearts on Fire Gala. This popular event continues to grow each year and brings together an evening of music, friends and delicious dining to support St. Paul’s Keeping the Promise Fund for unfunded and benevolent care. Thanks to the generous support of all the organizations and individuals listed below, the event raised more than $118,000 to assist residents who cannot afford the full cost of their care. Thank you!

A Partnership Beyond Food

St. Paul’s and Sodexo are proud of their partnership over the last three decades. Together we’ve worked side-by-side to grow and develop the best in dining services, as well as safe and comfortable facilities and grounds, for the residents, staff and visitors at St. Paul’s. In addition, Sodexo is also very supportive of our charitable mission. Since 2006, they have been one of the top sponsors for the Caring Hearts on Fire Gala. They were also a major donor to our Keeping the Promise Campaign in 2011.

“St. Paul’s has a great history, a great mission, and a wonderful legacy to date,” said Bob Kerin in Service Operations at Sodexo. “It focuses not just on seniors living their lives, but on seniors living their best lives, with respect and dignity and honor. It is a special privilege to give back to those who have come before us and given so much of themselves.”

Thank you to Sodexo for your continued support of life at St. Paul’s!

St. Paul’s 2016 Donor Report
If it weren’t for a love of music and an independent streak, John and Dorothy Rust may never have met. But Dorothy did decide to go out by herself to the Transfer Harvest Fair to hear a barbershop quartet, and a friend there introduced her to John. The rest was history - more than 45 years of marriage and counting today.

Dorothy was a teacher for 30 years in Sharpsville. John worked the family dairy farm and later opened an excavating business.

"John is great for planning ahead," said Dorothy. "After retirement, he started looking for a place with continuing health care that we could go and not have to worry." They knew a couple living at The Colony. "They would tell us ‘You want to come when you are young enough to enjoy it,’" recalls Dorothy.

They made the decision to move in 2004. "The Colony is Greenville’s best kept secret," said Dorothy. "People would ask me ‘What are you moving there for? That’s where you go to die!’ I would tell them no it isn’t. That’s where I’m going to live!” And live they have, without all the worries of taking care of their own home.

The Rusts spend part of the year in Florida. While home, John repairs things for friends and neighbors and helps with the community garden. He also maintains the 48 bluebird houses he built on campus. Dorothy volunteers in the bistro and at the reception desk in the Keifer Building. They both help with special events like the Car Cruise, Family Picnic and other activities.

In 2012, the Rusts made a large gift to the Keeping the Promise campaign, resulting in the creation of Rust Colony Square with a woodshop, kitchen and social area.

On June 25, 2016, we invited the Penn West Conference to visit St. Paul’s to see first-hand the ministry they are supporting. Thirty-five guests attended, representing 11 different churches in the conference. The attendees enjoyed a day of fellowship with staff and residents. The day started with a worship service, followed by a presentation about the history of St. Paul’s, a delicious lunch and interactive activities with the residents at The Villas, The Heritage and The Ridgewood. The visit concluded with a round-table discussion.

The visitors enjoyed the opportunity to interact with the residents and the staff and see all that St. Paul’s offers. "St. Paul’s Day was a great opportunity for people from around the Penn West Conference to make deeper connections with St. Paul’s," said Reverend David Ackerman, Penn West Conference Minister. "Not only did we have the opportunity to see first-hand the beauty of the facility, we also got to deepen their relationships with the residents, staff and administration. We got to see what life at St. Paul’s is like. Such an experience is invaluable, and I’m very grateful that St. Paul’s was able to orchestrate such a meaningful event for the people of our conference."

"We saw a need for a pavilion where all of The Colony residents could come together in fellowship and be outdoors," said John. The Rusts approached St. Paul’s about their idea and offered a very generous gift to make it a reality. John was closely involved in the planning from picking out the location to drawing the blueprint.

On July 5, 2016, the Rust Colony Pavilion was complete and hosted its inaugural picnic. The pavilion is 2,880 square feet with restrooms, storage, a fire pit and seating for at least 135 people.

"We’ve had a lot of comments from people who’ve appreciated the pavilion, appreciate having a place to get together outside," said Dorothy.

The Rusts are very happy with what the pavilion has brought to The Colony. They’ve seen picnics, family reunions, graduation parties, anniversary parties and Eden family gatherings held there.

"We’d always rain," said Dorothy.

"Someday I envision the pavilion will be at the center here, the heart of The Colony," he said. "Though not at the geographic center today, the Rust Colony Square Pavilion will undoubtedly be at the center of many fun social events for years to come.

I give and devise to St. Paul Homes (Tax ID# 25-0773080), located in Greenville, PA, the sum of $_____ (or ____% of my estate) to be used for its general support (or for the support of a specific fund, program or purpose).
There are ten very special donors who have grown alongside St. Paul’s over the last 20 years and counting. As time has passed, they have experienced celebrations and new life, love and friendships, loss and grief. Yet through it all, one thing has remained the same—their steadfast support. These ten individuals have donated to support St. Paul’s mission for 20 consecutive years and longer. We thank them for their faithful and generous dedication.

The Auxiliary of St. Paul’s

The auxiliary formed in 1973 to foster community support for St. Paul’s and the residents. Today it has more than 130 volunteer members who champion St. Paul’s mission to provide meaning and richness of life. Most recently the auxiliary has been raising funds for Jones Serenity Circle’s Garden of Love. Their efforts have created a beautiful courtyard for the residents with memory loss to safely enjoy the outdoors. Other projects the auxiliary has supported over the years include the purchase of a transportation van to ensure safe transport for the residents of St. Paul’s Orphans’ Home in Butler. Since 1973, several of Zion’s pastors and members have served on St. Paul’s board of directors, and the church has been instrumental in providing spiritual services for the residents and staff. Zion’s also continues to provide financial support, making regular donations to St. Paul’s Keeping the Promise and Good Samaritan Funds, as well as the auxiliary. “There are a number of Zion’s members and families that keep this relationship alive and active,” said Reverend June Boutwell, current interim minister at Zion’s. “I lift up this partnership that seeks to care for the orphan and the widow and many others, as the Bible asks us to do.”

Betty Lou Artime

Betty Lou Artime, who goes by the nickname B Lou, has been a part of the St. Paul’s family for most of her life. Her aunt and uncle were farm managers at St. Paul’s, and she used to visit in the summer, where she befriended several of the orphans. Later B Lou went on to become a teacher and had some of St. Paul’s orphans as students in Sunday School at Zion’s Reformed UCC, where she is a member. She has served on St. Paul’s board since 1990 and is now a board member emerita. “My humanitarian background and connection with Zion’s is why I choose to support St. Paul’s,” said B. Lou. “They are helping people, specifically the aging.” With her lifelong connection, it was only fitting that in 2007 she chose to move into The Ridgewood. B Lou is also a member of the Legacy Society, which means she has included St. Paul’s in her estate planning.

William & Dorothy O’Donnell

Residents of Hermitage, Pa., Bill and Dory O’Donnell have several ties to St. Paul’s. Bill’s mother lived in the old Health Center for four years. “We were very, very happy with the care there,” said Dory. “No matter what kind of job an employee had, they were all very kind and considerate.” For Dory, supporting St. Paul’s was a family tradition. Her father was a long time member of St. Paul’s UCC in Hermitage which, like Zion’s, is part of the Penn West Conference. Dory used to visit St. Paul’s as a child with her church. They held special activities for the orphans throughout the summer. The O’Donnells are glad to have supported St. Paul’s for more than 20 years. “I’ve always loved St. Paul’s,” said Dory. “We continue to give because you’re doing a good job there!”

William & Ellen Pritts

Like many, Bill’s connection to St. Paul’s is its family member. His father William E. Pritts, who was an elder in the United Church of Christ, served actively on St. Paul’s board from 1965-1990 and then as a board member emeritus until his passing at the age of 96. At that time, he was the oldest living board member. “My giving was stimulated by his long term board membership,” said Bill. “I do it in honor of him and his service. And because St. Paul’s does a fine job.” Bill had high praise for his dad. “My dad was the most honest, most reliable person you’d ever meet in your life,” he said. “Whatever he said he would do, he did. He was somebody you could always rely on.” His father never went beyond a high school education, yet he bought an old distillery in Mount Pleasant, PA and converted it into a successful feed mill, which is still a family-owned business today.

Past St. Paul’s Board Member William E. Pritts

In addition to giving financial support to St. Paul’s for more than 20 years in a row and being a member of the Legacy Society, Autumn has also given countless hours as a volunteer, most notably in the Colby Bistro at The Villas, which bears her name, and the Keifer Library. “I feel that St. Paul’s is a caring place and that they are certainly endeavoring to meet the needs of the people,” said Autumn. “And I feel it’s good to support that.”

Maggie Headland

Maggie and her husband Budd moved into The Colony 30 years ago. “We always knew about St. Paul’s because I grew up in the Reformed Church in Turtle Creek,” said Maggie. One day, she and Budd came to visit friends at The Colony for the first time. “They moved in themselves the next month. “We were sold immediately,” said Maggie. The Headland name is well-known at St. Paul’s today. Budd served on the board of directors for 15 years. Maggie has been a volunteer for 30 years, and even at the age of 98, still volunteers in the gift shop and plays the piano or organ for services. The Headlands have been very supportive of St. Paul’s mission, giving faithfully for more than 20 years.”Budd and I were always givers. We grew up giving. We didn’t know any other way of life,” said Maggie. Budd passed away in 2009 after nearly 70 years together, but his memory lives on at St. Paul’s through the couple’s generosity. The rotunda between The Heritage and The Villas, as well as Friendship Commons, the social hub in The Villas, both bear the Headland name. Maggie and Budd are also members of St. Paul’s Legacy Society.
Volunteers

Your giving hearts just keep growing! For the last five years, the number of volunteers at St. Paul’s and the number of hours you serve continue to rise. You selflessly give your time, talent and treasure to enrich our residents’ lives. We are so grateful for you.

Thank you for blessing St. Paul’s!

Ways to Give

We make a living by what we get,
We make a life by what we give.
- Winston Churchill

For advice about any of the ways you can give, please talk to your attorney or financial planner. You can also call St. Paul’s Charitable Giving Office at 724-588-7610.

Gifts of Securities
Appreciated stocks or bonds may be gifted. The value is determined by the average market value of the stock on the date the gift is made.

Bequests
With a bequest, you make provisions in your will to donate a certain dollar amount or percentage of your estate to St. Paul’s. These gifts are free from federal estate tax and estate and inheritance taxes in most states.

Charitable Gift Annuity
A charitable gift annuity is a simple contract between you and St. Paul’s. Your tax-deductible gift will be used to fund an annuity that will guarantee you lifetime income.

Gifts of Life Insurance
You may assign St. Paul’s as a beneficiary of your life insurance policy. When St. Paul’s is named as owner of a policy and/or the irrevocable beneficiary, the cash value of the policy and/or the inheritance tax savings that would otherwise be due, are deferred until the gift is made.

The Charitable Giving Office has worked diligently to provide complete and accurate listings of St. Paul’s supporters. However, if you do find an error or omission, please notify us at 724-588-7610, ext. 1237 or 1214, so we may correct our records.
